HATCHETTES ENTER GAME FAVORITES

Meet Gallaudet College at American League Park Three o'clock Armistice Day.

BIG CROWDS EXPECTED

All Proceeds Go to Benefit of National Disabled Soldiers League.

On the anniversary of the day the last gun sounded and an armistice was declared, the teams of Gallaudet College and George Washington University are to meet in mortal combat on the gridiron. The game is to be played at the American League Park, and the proceeds are to be used for the benefit of the National Disabled Soldiers League.

The game has been widely advertised and as there is no other local game that day, the managers are hopeful of filling the large stadium.

The Hatchette machine has hit its stride and is in fine form, but the silent athletes from Kendall Green are never easy, and an excellent game should result. All the Buff and Blue cripples are back in uniform and should be seen in action Friday.

The Kendall Greeners have had tough luck this year, but have a hard-fighting, fast team and should give the home boys no end of trouble. Last Saturday the Silents went down to defeat before the strong St. Johns College team of Annapolis, Md., but they threw an awful scare into the St. Johns boys by taking an early lead and holding it for the first half.

The probable line-up follows:

G. W.	Position.	Gallaudet
Plak	L. E.	Lucado
Connolly	L. T.	Lohn
Jawish	L. G.	Knauss
Hughes	C.	Linholm
Mulligan	R. G.	Cherry

ENTHUSIASM MARKS PORTRAIT CAMPAIGN

Money Coming in Rapidly From Alumni; Undergraduates To Be Approached Later.

Funds for the purchasing of a portrait of Dean Wilbur, to be presented to George Washington University, are being solicited by the Dean Wilbur portrait fund committee from about 5,000 alumni of the University, who, in their student days, came under the influence of the dean. The undergraduates have not yet been approached, but many of them are clamoring to give donations.

Great enthusiasm is shown over the movement and money is coming in rapidly in response to the letters sent out by the committee to alumni the world over, including Alaska, China, Africa, and all parts of South America. Anyone wishing to do so may send contributions to the treasurer of the committee, Dr. William Ewart Hobbs, 2111 Eighteenth Street Northwest.

It is not yet certain what portrait will be purchased, but the committee will take great care to see that it is one which will be worthy of the subject and satisfactory to those who have made contributions.

The members of the committee are Dr. Gertrude Richardson Brigham, Dr. William Ewart Hobbs, Jay Fuller Spoorri, Miss Lee Nora Hurst and Miss Byrd Bell.

GRADUATE SCHOOL TO HOLD ELECTION

Student Council elections in the Graduate School will take place on next Tuesday and Wednesday, November 15 and 16. A ballot box will be placed in the hall of 2023 G Street for the convenience of voters. Any person who is registered in the Graduate College is entitled to vote, and the Student Council requests that every eligible person exercise his right of citizenship.

COUNCIL TO MAKE PROGRAM OF EVENTS

Student organizations are requested to furnish their list of social events to the social committee of the Student Council at once so that the program of big events of the year may be published. So far, only one organization has turned in such a list. The list will consist of the biggest events of the year, and no minor festivities will be catalogued.

HATCHETTES TROUNCE WASHINGTON 56-0

Substitute Backs Romp Over Opponent For Eight Touchdowns; Blocked Punts Figure in Scoring.

Hitting the line, circling the ends, and using the aerial attack to perfection, the George Washington University football team last Saturday romped to a 56 to 0 victory over the Washington College team of Chestertown, Md.

The first period the home boys were held scoreless, although they twice crossed the Washington goal line, the ball being brought back for penalties. But in the second period the Buff and Blue were not to be stopped, running up 28 points with ease.

Springston was the only regular of the backfield who played in the game, but the substitutes ran the ball exceptionally well. The Hatchette forwards were the bulwark of the local team, both in offense and defense, no less than four of the touchdowns being the result of blocked punts by the husky Buff and Blue linemen.

Springston played his usual stellar game, running back punts in a thrilling manner and circling the ends at will. Loehler hit the line in a nice manner. Of the line, Hughes, Jawish and Plak played great football. Wells got away with a pretty forward pass toward the close of the game.

Line-up and summary:

G. Washington	Position	Wash. College
Plak	L. E.	Johnson
Connolly	L. T.	Runk
Jawish	L. G.	Flowers

STRINGED INSTRUMENTS CLUB TO BE FORMED

Will Cooperate With Glee Club; Sokolov To Be in Charge.

Owing to the unusual success which attended the endeavors of the Glee Club last year, they are planning far more extensive activities for this year. Mr. King-Smith, has again taken charge of the direction of the club, and from the increased interest displayed, not only in G. W. U. but in other Universities who seek to hold joint concerts with the club, a very extended and successful year is to be expected.

Bob Colflesh, the president, made the following statement: "In order to insure the success of the George Washington University Glee Club, which is much larger this year than last, we must have a stringed instrument club to support it." This opens a new field for the men of the University who do not sing, but who can and will play. Harry Sokolov is to take charge of this section of the club, and all players are urged to communicate with Mr. Colflesh with regard to this matter.

PYRAMID SOCIETY HOLDS FIRST MEETING

The Pyramid Honor Society held its first meeting of this year at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, November 6, at the Law School Building, President Hanson presiding.

The first matter considered was the nomination of members for the fall initiation. The list will be presented and passed upon at the next meeting.

The president then accepted, for the society, the responsibility for the May Fete Carnival, at the request of Bryan Morse. The society will have charge of all arrangements and has appointed John Paul Earnest, Jr., publicity agent for the affair.

The Pyramid hopes to make this entertainment the outstanding feature of the school year and will do everything toward this end, as they consider it their big contribution to the school this year.

The next meeting of the society will be held at the above-mentioned place at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, November 27.

HONOR FOOTBALL MEN WITH DANCE TONIGHT

After the game with Gallaudet in the afternoon the men of the football squad will be entertained as guests of honor by the Interfraternity Association at their first dance of the season, which will be held at the Raleigh Hotel. The attendance is to be limited to members of the football team and of the several fraternities, the public not being invited, as was reported previously when the dance was listed as a Student Council affair. This last is to be given later during the year and at that time the entire student body will be invited to attend.

JAZZ TO REIGN SUPREME AT FOOTBALL HOP, NOV. 11

To Honor Football Men, Celebrate Victory and Armistice Day All in One.

Immediately following the convention of the Disarmament Conference and after the overwhelming defeat of Gallaudet College by the Buff and Blue on Friday, November 11, a period of merry-making and relaxation is deemed necessary. So hark YE! There has been arranged at the Raleigh by the Interfraternity Association, the first of the season's dances. From 9 until 1 the beauty and chivalry of George Washington University will tinkle to the strains of the "jazziest" jazz music that Washington can produce, and the ballroom at the Raleigh will be decorated in festive array.

The dance will be given in honor of the football team, and the team and faculty are to be the guests of the party, at which a unique program with special features is arranged.

COLUMBIAN SOPHS ELECT CLASS OFFICERS

Office of Sergeant at Arms Spiritually Contested.

With unanimity which is rivaled only by elections in the South, the Columbian sophomores at their meeting in Lisner Hall Friday evening, November 4, elected Clyde A. Tolson president; Maxine F. Rolle, vice president; and Martha Dunham, secretary. The election of treasurer and sergeant at arms became a little more spirited, two being nominated for the first position and five for the second.

F. Willis Brown, of unquestioned honesty, well known as a financier and The Hatchet's demon sport writer, was elected to hold the strings of the money bag, while the duties of keeping order were turned over to Herbert F. Quinn.

No action was taken on the disposition of the freshmen and the formulation of frosh rules, although several members urged that immediate steps should be taken.

WOMEN'S LEGAL CLUB ADOPTS CONSTITUTION

Prominent Women Speak at Teas Held Semi-Monthly.

Realizing the opportunities it has for aiding law students both in the school and in the profession, as well as its own possibilities of becoming a vital factor in the University, the Women's Legal Club, at its meeting on Monday night, October 31, adopted a new constitution which will, it is hoped, put it on a firmer working basis. Since the opening day of the current session the club has been making an effort to get in close touch with all the new girls to welcome them and to give them friendly tips that will help them in their work. If there is any one in the school who has failed to affiliate herself with the organization, it will be worth her while to do so at once.

Teas are being held in the Rest Room at 1435 K Street on every other Thursday afternoon in order that the girls may become better acquainted. A dinner will be given each month, the principal feature of which will be a talk by some woman of prominence in the legal profession, and already definite steps are being planned to secure authoritative information concerning possible openings and opportunities for women in law work, in order that graduates and undergraduates who find it necessary to leave school may secure positions which will be to their own advantage, as well as to the advantage of the firms that employ them.

ONE WILD WEEK GAINS BRIDE FOR PROFESSOR

Swipes Trunk From Closely-Guarded Dormitory and Eludesirate Parent. Days of D'Artagnan Recalled.

Chivalry is revived and D'Artagnan of Gascony is reincarnated in Prof. G. M. Patison, of the George Washington faculty, it was learned Tuesday when the popular instructor of Spanish returned to his classes and recounted his speedy elopement with a fair daughter of Dixie.

Brandishing a six-shooter and carrying a bottle of hooch as persuaders, according to reports, instead of the broadsword of Damascus steel which the Romeos of former days flourished, Prof. Patison invaded not only the campus of the University of Texas, but is also believed to be the first man to enter the closely guarded precincts of the Catholic dormitory of the institution, where the fair Juliet was virtually imprisoned by her parents in their attempt to thwart the plans of the determined swain.

Racing into Texas in the face of an ultimatum from his now unwilling father-in-law, which made the match appear impossible and standing before a minister ten minutes after approaching his fiancée on her way to class and but four months after the vacation romance started, Prof. Patison is believed to have set a record for speedy and thrilling affairs d'amour, especially in the ranks of pedagogues.

Ten minutes after I received a letter from Mr. Stearns in which he positively forbade my marriage with his daughter, I wired her the message 'I'm coming. Be prepared,' and left Washington Tuesday night," recounted the instructor. "Meeting my fiancée on her way to class Friday morning, we and a party of friends rushed to the courthouse, and five minutes after its doors opened we had a license. Five minutes later we were married."

"With the conclusion of the ceremony difficulties appeared, for the sisters at the Catholic dormitory which had housed my bride refused to surrender her trunk to the truckmen and (Continued on page three.)

LAW SCHOOL HOLDS SENATE ELECTIONS

Members of the Law School's Governing Body Consider Honor System.

Well attended meetings of the classes at Law School resulted in the election of the following to serve on the Law School Senate for the present year:

Senior Class—Miss Tilghman, Mr. Hughes, Mr. Ross.
Junior Class—Miss Wallace, Mr. Melton, Mr. Gall.
Freshman Class—Miss Martin, Mr. Norcross, Mr. Lewis.

Subsequently the new senate held a very important meeting, with many of the retiring members present. Dean Ferson, as the representative of the faculty, and Mr. Hall, representing the alumni, also were present.

One of the most important topics brought up for discussion was with regard to the Law School honor committee. Although the Law School has operated under the honor system for some time and has had an honor committee, it is well known the system has not properly functioned. The honor system should be regarded as one of the most vital assets of any student organization.

It was suggested that the senate consider placing before the student body at Law School a plan whereby the honor system would be more effective and would be accorded the prominence it deserves in student activities. Such a result, it was thought, could come about by a measure which would transfer all the powers and duties now resting, and we use the word advisedly, in the honor committee to the senate. The latter body, as differentiated from the former, meets regularly and could, therefore, transact with greater dispatch the business pertaining to the honor system. The plan was accepted by the senate, and has since been placed before nearly all of the classes at Law School, in every instance receiving the approval of those classes.

The officers of the senate for the year are: President, Miss Tilghman; vice president, Mr. Hughes; secretary, Miss Wallace.

Miss Tilghman appointed the following committee to draw up a set of suggestions to be presented at the next regular meeting, relative to the assumption of the duties of the honor committee by the Law School senate: Messrs. Hughes and Gall and Miss Martin.

FRATERNITIES STAGE BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Cup To Be Presented to Winner; S. P. E. and S. A. E. Tied For First Place.

SCHEDULE IS ARRANGED

All Games To Be Played at Arcade Bowling Alleys.

Last week officially ushered in the Interfraternity bowling season. The fraternities have been divided into two sections, the winners in which will contest for a cup which is yearly offered by the Interfraternity Association. All matches have been scheduled to take place at the Arcade bowling Alleys, Fourteenth and Park Road Northwest. Several matches already have taken place, and the latest results are given below, along with the schedule and rules.

The games between Sigma Nu and Phi Sigma Kappa and those between Kappa Sigma and Sigma Chi, scheduled for October 31, were postponed by agreement and will be played at a later date.

Phi Sigma Kappa won its match from Phi Alpha Delta, the latter offering a stubborn resistance. Another interesting contest took place when Sigma Nu and Kappa Sigma battled to a desperate end, Sigma Nu winning by only a 1-pin (Continued on page three.)

MASONS HOLD DINNER HONOR GEO. WASHINGTON

President Hodgkins, Dean Ferson and Prof. Croissant Speak.

That George Washington is and always will be an absolutely nonsectarian University was voiced by speakers at the dinner given by The Travelers and the Masonic Club last Friday. President Hodgkins especially emphasized this fact, stating that the University is not affiliated with any religious nor political institution whatsoever.

The dinner was given in honor of the 169th anniversary of the raising of George Washington to the degree of Master Mason. Important speakers of the evening were Judge Hayes, who is a 33d degree Mason; Prof. Croissant, and Toastmaster Dean Ferson. Charles M. Freney, president of The Travelers fraternity, and Byron Carson, president of George Washington Masonic Club, pledged the support of their respective organizations to President Hodgkins and emphasized the fact that the students should all support the school now as well as after they have graduated.

G.W. MASONS TO WEAR BUFF AND BLUE FEZ

The Masonic Club of George Washington University has adopted a buff and blue fez similar in shape to those already adopted by the other Masonic clubs of this district of the National Federation of Masonic Clubs, in order that it may be more closely associated with the University at future conventions of the federation.

It is planned to wear the new fez for the first time at the coming dinner of the G.W. Masonic Club.

WASHINGTON, D. C. NOVEMBER 11, 1921

We Need An Honor System

Attempts at installing an honor system have been made in this University for the past several years. It is in no way a new idea, for the Law School is supposed to be ruled by such a system regulated by the Law Senate, and the Columbian and Engineering Colleges, together with the University as a whole, have been under the supervision of the honor committee of the Student Council. Then, again, in an endeavor to install honesty, the different classes have voted to uphold the system. The Medical School has not particularly needed such a system, as its personnel is composed of men who realize the value of honor and appreciate learning for its worth in later life.

However, these attempts to install honesty have not penetrated into the students common, but has been felt only among the strata of students who really want to help to make a greater G. W. U. What we need is an organization that will be felt in the whole University and among all the students. We want and need something that will compel those students to hold up to honesty and honor who would not have done so otherwise.

In the personnel of G. W. U. we have a number of students who through their high school or preparatory school lives have been associated with the idea in school life the thing to do is to get as much with the least effort. Some of them take their studies here as a joke and as an exponent to a social life and are prone to take advantage of their professor at every opportunity. It is to this type of students that we hope to instill this fair and square principle. There have been criticisms made by members of the Student Council on the tactics recently employed in class elections, and this side of our University life also could be bettered by the institution of such a system.

The question is now how to bring about this honor system, and who must be the parties and organization instrumental in fostering it. This is the easier side of the discussion. Let us take it up, get others interested in it, debate it over in our societies, and after we all decide that we really want it, there is no doubt about it but that it will be instituted.

Class Elections

There seems to be a lack of interest and spirit this year in the election of officers for the various classes. At many of the meetings only a small percentage of the members of the class have been present and candidates have been put through by unanimous vote. This is pleasing in that it indicates whole-hearted support of those present for these respective candidates, but it is retrogressive in that it may probably make these officers too self-satisfied with their elections and their offices and will not give them the impetus to promote the work of their classes.

The harder a person has to work for anything, the more he will value it after he has secured it. If there were keener competition in these elections, it would not only develop better class spirit, but it would make the successful candidates realize more fully the importance of their offices. Let us hope, however, that the comparative ease with which a few of the class officers have secured their positions will not allow them to become slack in their duties and uninterested in the advancement of their class interests.

DEAN WILBUR ILL.

Dean Wilbur is slowly recovering from an attack of the grippe and a touch of the flu which confined him to his bed for a week. His two classes in English Rhetoric, as well as his many friends, were not slow to wish him a rapid recovery. Many flowers and testimonials showed him that he was not forgotten. Both classes in rhetoric took up collections with which the morning class purchased a beautiful basket of fruit and the evening class a beautiful basket of flowers. Members of each class offered their services in obtaining and giving the testimonials.

One of the most irritating sights in the world is the picture presented by a pretty girl wasting a flock of perfectly good kisses on another woman.

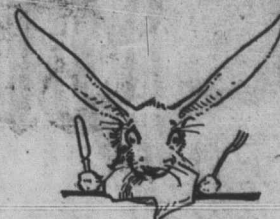

We all like to see the girls lay aside something for a rainy day. Especially silk stockings.

The great and good man who invented the high car step did much for the uplift movement.

And might we not refer to a female police officer as a prominent club-woman?

OFFICE ACCUMULATES UNCALLED FOR MAIL

The office of the University has been greatly worried by the accumulation of uncalled for letters, which have amounted to about 50 a week and now take up one entire section of the office. Each week a roster of the persons to whom they are addressed is published on the bulletin board at the entrance to the office. Everyone will please look over the list to see if they have received a bill or love letter. The following persons have a claim to one or more of these: Allen R. Benham, Vernon Boyd, Alexander M. ELECT NEW OFFICERSPresident Maxine Girls Authorizes Statement Mixer To Be Held Soon.

At a meeting of the Junior Class of Columbian College, at which the girls far outnumbered the boys, Maxine DeGrange was elected president; Frances DeGrange, vice president; Mary Agnes Brown, secretary; J. Jos. W. Palmer, treasurer, and Louise Espey, sergeant at arms.

It was decided to hold a junior mixer in the Chapel of Lisner Hall on Tuesday, November 15, at 8 p. m. All juniors in the University are invited to attend and affiliate with the class.

President Girls authorized the following statement:

"Some say a junior is worth 50 college credits. With that we heartily agree; but, say, which is worth more, a man worth 50 credits or a man worth an inestimable amount when judged by personal qualities? And one of the most valuable of those personal qualities is the spirit to do, to help, to support activities worthy of support. Listen: No one likes a sponger who let another man do all the work and then steps in for the benefits of his efforts. But worse than a sponger is a drawback who will not even permit to advance those who desire not only their own advancement but the advancement of others.

"So we say to all of you who have the first quality that determines the worth of a junior, namely, the 50 credits (or third year in college), come out and get the other one—spirit, personal backbone. Don't be a sponger—and may the school forbid a drawback!"

"Then may we say that our Junior has all the desirable qualities, and his worth cannot be counted in numbers."

Men of the Junior Class—

You lost in the elections,

But why?

Lack of interest!

But—

You still have a fighting chance

To distinguish yourselves

In the class;

Just come out.

With the spirit to help,

And we'll welcome you

Without the fight.

Try-outs for the team will be held all through the month of November, on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, from 2 to 4. After the team members are selected regular practices will be arranged for them at Central High School pool.

According to Beatrice Woodford, captain and acting coach, the team is out to win and intends to bring in a long list of victories for G.W.

sent word to her parents 20 miles away of our attempt to flee."

Arriving at the depot shortly before train time, but finding the trunk had not yet been secured, Patison and the party went to the dormitory and, in the face of threats and protests of the sisters, forcibly carried out the bride's trunk.

Scarcely more than started on their way to the station, they were passed by the irate parent, so intent upon reaching the depot that he did not observe the passengers of the truck.

With the infuriated Texan patrolling the station platform and the realization that he was no poor shot, the couple evaded the meeting by enlisting the aid of a porter, who smuggled them into a baggage car from the opposite side of the tracks, in which they started their homeward journey but three hours after being reunited on the campus of the University of Texas.

Prof. Patison was himself a student at the University of Texas for a brief period before the war, but did not meet his bride until he returned to his Texan home during the last vacation.

Miss Frances Stearns, the bride, will continue her studies at George Washington University, possibly under the tutelage of her husband. She will matriculate in the Junior Class of Columbian College, Prof. Patison said.

DANCE HELD FOR NEW ARCHITECT MEMBERS

The Architectural Club entertained at a dance Wednesday evening, November 2, at the Sycamore Island Canoe Club in honor of the new members.

Because of its proximity to Halloween, the decorations of this holiday were used. Peppy music was furnished and added much to the enjoyment of the dance. About 30 couples attended and expressed much regret that the dance had to break up before 12 in order to coincide with the car service.

When the time for refreshments came the dancers grouped before the large open fireplace in the clubroom and made merry while marshmallows were toasted and "weiners" popped in the water boiling over the blazing logs.

The club's first social event of this year was quite a success and warrants
a repetition in the near future.

HATCHET WELCOMES STAFF WITH JAZZ

The new Hatchet reporters and their friends were fittingly taken into the service of The University Hatchet when on Friday night they danced to merry music at the Kappa Alpha house, 2511 Fourteenth Street. The party was in honor of those students who have qualified for positions on The Hatchet reporting staff as a result of the five weeks' try-out just completed. In the three inviting rooms still decorated with cornstalks and the seasonal colors of orange and black, the newly selected news collectors and friends learned that The Hatchet welcomes them and wishes them well in their new duties.

The Hatchet now boasts of a large and willing staff of reporters seldom equaled on any university paper, and with the continued support of these students The Hatchet can be no other than one of the most notable school papers in the country.

by Rev. M. B. MacBryde at the Grace
Memorial Church for Delta Pi chapter Sunday evening, November 6. Almost the entire chapter was present, as well as many alumni members. The memorial was of particular interest this year because it commemorated the death of one of the founders of the fraternity, Maj. Greenfield Quarles, who died January 14, 1921.

Delta Pi will hold its annual Thanksgiving dance on November 24.

SUSPEND CLASS WORK TO OBSERVE ARMISTICE HOLIDAY

G. W. Student Instrumental in Securing General Holiday.

Announcement by Dean Hodgkins that there will be no classes at the University today, Armistice Day, is heartily welcomed by both students and faculty. It will give a respite for those whose work is pressing at this time of the year and they therefore appreciate the opportunity this holiday affords to get back on their feet.
But more than that, to a large number of students here, it recalls the days of their own wartime service, and that the heroes being honored today were perhaps of their own number and who might be at G. W. today but for a less fortunate fate. So today will undoubtedly be commemorated with much respect by all George Washington students.

It is probably unknown to most of us how narrowly we avoided missing this holiday, but as a matter of fact,
and to make it all the more interesting, it was due to the action taken by a G. W. man that we acquired today as a legal holiday. Our benefactor is Capt. Edwin S. Bettelheim, Jr., a sophomore at the Law School, and it is to him we must render our thanks, for it was he who first realizing that the President could not proclaim a holiday without authority from Congress, drew up a preliminary draft of the resolution and by a conference with Repre-
presented the matter officially to Congress. Capt. Bettelheim followed it through the House and Senate committees so that there would be little chance of it being laid aside. It was passed on November 2, was signed by the President November 4, and the proclamation was issued by President Harding on November 5.

It is exceedingly gratifying to realize that this victory was accomplished by one of our own students. After having succeeded in getting the holiday legalized Capt. Bettelheim wrote to Dean Hodgkins, in part, as follows:
"Feeling sure of the idea that George Washington University stands for, and of the same spirit that instills every member thereof, both faculty and students, I am taking the liberty of asking you to officially declare that day a holiday in George Washington University so that they might regard their absence on that day a response to their patriotic spirit rather than a setback to their classwork, about which they are equally conscientious."

CHINESE STUDENT ADDRESSES CLASS

Im-Hing Chan, a Chinese student in George Washington, recently addressed the Class in Journalism, of which he is a member, on the danger to the rest of the world should Japan gain control of China. This, he said, is Japan's ambition and she is striving by trade and colonization to gain political control and ultimate dominance there. He read some articles from the "21 demands" given to China by Japan
during the world war, which, he asserted, would crush China if accepted and would make Japan a menace to the world.

Japan, China and the European powers are the main factors in Oriental politics, Mr. Chan said, and China, whose ambition is independence, is finding it hard to contend with the influence of the powers and the aggression of Japan.

A students' patriotic movement to raise opposition to these two factors has been started in China, he continued, and much is being accomplished by this organization.

Mr. Chan's talk was very instructive and entertaining and his audience demonstrated its approval by hearty applause.
